INTRODUCTION
BY JEAN FLORMAN

The notion of commissioning work was hardly new when the Joffrey Ballet accepted the first Hancher commission in 1984. After all, for thousands of years, patrons around the world have financially supported the creation of music, paintings, sculpture, plays—even love sonnets. But Hancher’s first commission was an invigorating sea change for the University of Iowa’s performing arts venue. It heralded a new creative future for Hancher. In addition to serving as a presenter of the performing arts, Hancher now would become a creative force.

OUR MISSION
Hancher enriches lives and helps build community through the transformative power of the performing arts.

Hancher’s mission is to enrich lives and foster community through creating and sharing performing arts. Hancher is both a landmark destination and a creative spirit. We work to support the creation of new art and to make a wide range of performing arts accessible to broad audiences. A central element of this work is ensuring that art is a vital element of education for the University of Iowa students, faculty, and staff across disciplines, as well as for students and educators throughout the region. We believe that creating and sharing art this way can enrich individuals’ lives and strengthen community through the broadened perspectives and understanding that result from meaningful engagement with the arts.

OUR VISION
Hancher is essential to the work of the university, the cultural richness of the state, and the advancement of the performing arts around the world.

Our vision is that, by 2025, Hancher will have a secure place at the heart of what makes the University of Iowa a destination university for students, faculty, and staff; will be a primary means by which Iowans in every corner of the state experience and learn about the performing arts; and will be an active and valued contributor to the advancement of the performing arts across the globe. Hancher’s role in creating and sharing the performing arts will be as prominent in the hearts and minds of Iowans and the performing arts world as its unique physical presence is at the gateway to Iowa City for all who pass by.

OUR CORE VALUES
People First: We extend a welcoming invitation to all and value the vast diversity of the human experience. We listen, foster dialogue, and amplify stories of all kinds. People are at the heart of everything Hancher does.

Shared Experience: We prize the power of art to connect people, spark learning, and build community. We develop opportunity for collaboration—among artists, students, teachers, and community members—that leads to creative expression and new understanding.

Bold Creativity: We are catalysts. We help ignite innovation and push the limits of today to create new knowledge, insight, and art for tomorrow.

Inspired Excellence: We give the very best of ourselves, and we move others to do the same. We strive to develop and maintain the highest quality practices and facilities in the service of the performing arts and the people engaging with them.
