Hancher Auditorium
2001-02 Season
Connections

To our past and its traditions
To our future and its possibilities
To other people...those on stage and those beside us
To our own inner selves
To the familiar...and the foreign

Come away inspired, enlightened, moved, energized, changed
My Lazare Diamond.

I love the way it sparkles.
Like fire. It's mesmerizing.
Hands explained
how its ideal cut
creates the rainbow blaze of light. And how its unique laser inscription identifies it as mine alone.
Choosing a diamond
suddenly became easier than I ever imagined.
It's impossibly beautiful.
It's My Lazare Diamond.

KRONOS QUARTET
David Harrington, Violin
John Sherba, Violin
Hank Dutt, Viola
Jennifer Culp, Cello

Saturday, March 2, 2002—8 p.m.
NUEVO — World Premiere
SEVERIANO BRISEÑO (arr. Oswaldo Golijov)
"El Sinaloense" ["The Man from Sinaloa"]+
AGUSTÍN LARA (arr. Oswaldo Golijov)
"Se Me Hizo Fácil" ["It Was Easy for Me"]+
JUAN GARCÍA ESQUIVEL (arr. Oswaldo Golijov)
"Mini Skirt"+
ALBERTO DOMÍNGUEZ (arr. Stephen Prutsman)
"Perifís" ["Perfusy"]+
SILVESTRE REVUELTA (arr. Stephen Prutsman)
"Semana Santa"+
OSVALDO GOLIJOV
"K'in Svenita Ch'ul Me 'Ik Kwadalupe" ["Festival of the Holy Mother Guadalupana"]+
BELISARIO GARCÍA DE JESÚS and JOSÉ EJUZONDO (arr. Stephen Prutsman)
"Cuatro Milpas" ["Four Cornfields"]+
ROBERTO GÓMEZ BOLAÑOS (arr. Ricardo Gallardo)
"Chavasuite"+
CHAUNO SÁNCHEZ (arr. Oswaldo Golijov)
"Nocho Verdizco"+
CAFÉ TACUBA (arr. Oswaldo Golijov)
"12/12"+

INTERMISSION

PETERIS VASKS
QUARTET NO. 4 *
I. Elegy
II. Toccata I
III. Chorale
IV. Toccata II
V. Meditation

PROGRAM SUBJECT TO CHANGE
* Written for Kronos + Arranged for Kronos

Kronos Quartet, P. O. Box 225340, San Francisco, CA 94122-5340
Tel: 415/731-3533, Fax: 415/664-7590, www.kronosquartet.org
KRONOS QUARTET

David Harrington, Violin
John Sherba, Viola
Hank Dutt, Viola
Jennifer Culp, Cello

Saturday, March 2, 2002—8 p.m.

NUEVO—World Premiere

SEVERIANO BRISEÑO (arr. Oswaldo Golijov)
"El Sinaloense" ("The Man from Sinaloa")

AGUSTÍN LARA (arr. Oswaldo Golijov)
"Se Me Hizo Fácil" ("It Was Easy for Me")

JUAN GARCÍA ESQUIVEL (arr. Oswaldo Golijov)
"Mini Skirt"

ALBERTO DOMÍNGUEZ (arr. Stephen Prutsman)
"Perfidia" ("Perfidy")

SILVESTRE REVUELTAS (arr. Stephen Prutsman)
"Sensamayá"

OSWALDO GOLIJOV
"K in Sventa Ch'ul Me 'ik Kwadojule" ("Festival for the Holy Mother Guadalupe")

BELISARIO GARCÍA DE JESÚS and JOSÉ ELIZONDO (arr. Stephen Prutsman)
"Cuatro Milpas" ("Four Cornfields")

ROBERTO GÓMEZ BOLAÑOS (arr. Ricardo Gallardo)
"Chavosuite"

CHAUNO SÁNCHEZ (arr. Oswaldo Golijov)
"Noche Verduzo"

CAFÉ TACUBA (arr. Oswaldo Golijov)
"12/12"

INTERMISSION

PETERIS VASKS
QUARTET NO. 4 *
I. Elegy
II. Toccata I
III. Chorale
IV. Toccata II
V. Meditation

* Written for Kronos + Arranged for Kronos

Kronos Quartet, P.O. Box 225340, San Francisco, CA 94122-5340
Tel: 415/731-3533, Fax: 415/664-7590, www.kronosquartet.org
KRONOS QUARTET

Synonymous with musical innovation, Kronos Quartet is known for its unique artistic vision and fearless dedication to experimentation. Since its inception in 1973, Kronos has assembled a body of work unparalleled in its range and scope of expression, and in the process, has captured the attention of audiences worldwide.

Kronos has been commissioning new work since its earliest days, and more than 450 pieces have been written or arranged for the group. The quartet’s extensive repertoire ranges from Alban Berg, Alfred Schnittke, George Crumb, Sofia Gubaidulina and Morton Feldman to Hindenburg von Bingen, Charles Mingus, Astor Piazzolla, Harry Partch and Carlos Paredes. In addition to ongoing creative relationships with composers such as Terry Riley, Franghiz Ali-Zadeh and Osvaldo Golijov, Kronos has collaborated with countless artists, including Dawn Upshaw, Foday Musa Suso, Wu Man, Cafè Tacuba, Zakir Hussain, Allen Ginsberg, Throat Singers of Tuva, Bathan Örul, Elle and Koma, Pandit Pran Nath, Das Wolder, Hanza El Din and the Tarde de Haldouks. Kronos has recently premiered, or will soon premiere, works written for the group by Ellen Fullman, Philip Glass, Michael Gordon, Guo Wenjing, Melissa Hui, Willem Jeths, John King, David Lang, Matmos, Helmut Oehring, Gabriela Ortiz, P.Q. Phan, Stephen Prutsman, Steve Reich, Peteris Vasks, Aleksandrs Vrebakovs and Julia Wolfe.

Kronos performs annually in many cities and tours extensively with more than 100 concerts each year in concert halls, clubs and at jazz festivals throughout the United States, Canada, Europe, Japan, Mexico, South America, Russia, Asia and Australia. Recent tours have included appearances at the Concertgebouw in Amsterdam, the Kennedy Center, University of Iowa’s Hancher Auditorium, Brooklyn Academy of Music’s Next Wave Festival, Moscow’s Conservatory of Music, Prague Spring International Music Festival, Sydney Opera House, Southern California’s Electric Orange Festival, London’s Royal Festival Hall, Teatro Colón in Buenos Aires, La Scala, Théâtre de la Ville in Paris and Vancouver’s Chan Centre.

Kronos has won numerous international awards, including three Edison Prizes (The Netherlands), Jahnspreis der Deutschen Schallplattenkritik (Germany), Rolf Schock Prize in Music (Sweden), eight ASCAP/Chamber Music America Awards for Adventurous Programming (United States), Australian Broadcasting Company Classic FM Best International Recording of the Year (Australia), Les Diapason d’Or de Mâcon (France) and others.

Kronos records exclusively for Nonesuch Records, and the group’s recorded performances have been heard throughout the world on radio and television, in films and in live dance and theater performances. The catalog includes Steve Reich’s Triple Quartet (2001); Terry Riley’s Requiem for Adam (2001); Requiem for a Dream: Soundtrack by Clint Mansell (2000); Kronos Caravan (2000); Dracula Soundtrack by Philip Glass (1999); Kronos Quartet—25 Years (1998); Kronos Quartet Performs Alfred Schnittke: The Complete String Quartets (1998), which received Grammy nominations for Best Classical Album and Best Chamber Music Performance; John Adams’ John’s Book of Alleged Dances/Groovy Buttons (1998); Early Music (Kachyma Antiqua) (1997), which received a Grammy nomination for Best Chamber Music Performance; Tan Dun’s Ghost Opera (1997); Osvaldo Golijov’s The Dreams and Prayers of Isaac the Blind (1997); Howl, U.S.A. (1996); Released 1985–1995 (1995); Kronos Quartet Performs Philip Glass (1995); Night Prayers (1994); Bob Catterall’s All the Rage (1993); At the Grave of Richard Wagner (1993); Morton Feldman’s Piano and String Quartet (1993); Henryk Górecki’s String Quartets Nos. 1 and 2 (1993); Short Stories (1993); Pieces of Africa (1992); Henryk Górecki’s Already It Is Dusk (1991); Astor Piazzolla’s Five Tango Sensations (1991); Kevin Volans’ Hunting Gathering (1991); Witold Lutoslawski’s String Quartet (1991); Black Angels (1990), which received a Grammy nomination for Best Chamber Music Performance; Solome Dances for Peace (1989), which received a Grammy nomination for Best Contemporary Composition; Different Trains (1989), which received a Grammy award for Best Contemporary Composition; Winter Was Hard (1988); and White Man Sleeps (1987), which received a Grammy nomination for Best Chamber Music Performance, and Kronos Quartet (1986).
KRONOS QUARTET

Synonymous with musical innovation, Kronos Quartet is known for its unique artistic vision and fearless dedication to experimentation. Since its inception in 1973, Kronos has assembled a body of work unparalleled in its range and scope of expression, and in the process, has captured the attention of audiences worldwide.

Kronos has been commissioning new work since its earliest days, and more than 450 pieces have been written or arranged for the group. The quartet’s extensive repertoire ranges from Alban Berg, Alfred Schnittke, George Crumb, Sofia Gubaidulina and Morton Feldman to Hildegard von Bingen, Charles Mingus, Astor Piazzolla, Harry Partch and Carlos Paredes. In addition to ongoing creative relationships with composers such as Terry Riley, Frankziz Ali-Zadeh and Osvaldo Golijov, Kronos has collaborated with countless artists, including Daun Upshaw, Foday Musa Suso, Wu Man, Café Tacuba, Zakir Hussain, Allen Ginsberg, Throat Singers of Tuva, Burhan Öçal, Ellen and对着Koma, Pandit Pran Nath, Dai Watan, Hamza El Din and the Tarif de Handke. Kronos has recently premiered, or will soon premiere, works written for the group by Ellen Fullman, Philip Glass, Michael Gordon, Guo Wenjing, Melissa Hui, Willem Jeths, John King, David Lang, Matmos, Helmut Oehring, Gabriela Ortiz, P.Q. Phan, Stephen Prutsman, Steve Reich, Peteris Vasks, Aleksandra Vrebalov and Julie Wolfe.

Kronos performs annually in many cities and tours extensively with more than 100 concerts each year in concert halls, clubs and at jazz festivals throughout the United States, Canada, Europe, Japan, Mexico, South America, Russia, Asia and Australia. Recent tours have included appearances at the Concertgebouw in Amsterdam, the Kennedy Center, University of Iowa’s Hancher Auditorium, Brooklyn Academy of Music’s Next Wave Festival, Moscow’s Conservatory of Music, Prague Spring International Music Festival, Sydney Opera House, Southern California’s Eclectic Orange Festival, London’s Royal Festival Hall, Teatro Colón in Buenos Aires, La Scala, Théâtre de la Ville in Paris and Vancouver’s Chan Centre.

Kronos has won numerous international awards, including three Edison Prizes (The Netherlands), Jahnspreis der Deutschen Schallplattenkritik (Germany), Rolf Schock Prize in Music (Sweden), eight ASCAP/Chamber Music America Awards for Adventurous Programming (United States), Australian Broadcasting Company Classic FM Best International Recording of the Year (Australia), Les Diapason d’Or de Meill (France) and others.

Kronos records exclusively for Nonesuch Records, and the group’s recorded performances have been heard throughout the world on radio and television, in films and in live dance and theater performances. The catalog includes Steve Reich’s Triple Quartet (2001); Terry Riley’s Requiem for Adam (2001); Requiem for a Dream: Soundtrack by Clint Mansell (2000); Kronos Caravan (2000); Dracula Soundtrack by Philip Glass (1999); Kronos Quartet–25 Years (1998); Kronos Quartet Performs Alfred Schnittke: The Complete String Quartets (1998), which received Grammy nominations for Best Classical Album and Best Chamber Music Performance; John Adams’ John’s Book of Alledged Dances/Ghost Variations (1998); Early Music (Lachrymatio Antiqua) (1997), which received a Grammy nomination for Best Chamber Music Performance; Tan Dun’s Ghost Opera (1997); Osvaldo Golijov’s The Dreams and Prayers of Isaac the Blind (1997); HowI, U.S.A. (1996); Released 1985–1995 (1995); Kronos Quartet Performs Philip Glass (1995); Night Prayers (1994); Bob Catelan’s All the Rage (1993); Arthe Grove of Richard Wagner (1993); Morton Feldman’s Piano and String Quartet (1993); Henryk Gorecki’s String Quartets Nos. 1 and 2 (1993); Short Stories (1993); Pieces of Africa (1992); Henryk Gorecki’s Already It Is Dusk (1991); Astor Piazzolla’s Five Tango Sensations (1991); Kevin Volans’ Hunting/Gathering (1991); Witold Lutoslawski’s String Quartet (1991); Black Angels (1990), which received a Grammy nomination for Best Chamber Music Performance; Solonom Dances for Peace (1989), which received a Grammy nomination for Best Contemporary Composition; Different Trains (1989), which received a Grammy award for Best Contemporary Composition; Winter Was Hard (1988); and White Man Sleeps (1987), which received a Grammy nomination for Best Chamber Music Performance, and Kronos Quartet (1986).
Program Notes

NUEVO

Sevastino Briseño [1902–1988]
"El Sinaloense" ("The Man from Sinaloa") [1943, arr. 2001]
Arranged by Oswaldolio Golliv (b. 1960)

This raucous, bawdy song about a drunken character from the western coastal state of Sinaloa was actually written by a man who lived on the opposite coast in the city of Tampico. Sevastino Briseño, who performed with a popular trio in the 1950s called the Trio Tampiqueños, reportedly began writing "El Sinaloense" at a bar in Mazatlán's southern Sinaloa. The song was later made famous by Banda El Recodo de Don Cruz Lizarraga, one of the most well-known of the bandas sinaloenses. Banda El Recodo was founded in the 1930s by Lizarraga in the town of El Recodo, outside of Mazatlán, as a 12-member instrumental ensemble. By the time he died in 1995, the band had grown to 16, comprised mostly of brass players, with a complement of clarinetists, percussionists and vocalists. The band has survived the passing of its first generation of musicians and continues to perform today. It was a recording of this song by Banda El Recodo, with superstar singer/songwriter Juan Gabriel's vocals, that inspired Kronos and record producer Gustavo Santolola to try to capture the bright timbre and virtuosity of the banda's brassy bass section.

Agustín Lara (1896–1970)
"Se Me Hizo Fácil" ("It Was Easy for Me") [1959, arr. 2001]
Arranged by Oswaldolio Golliv (b. 1960)

Agustín Lara's rise to fame began in 1930 with the installation of a new transmitter in Mexico City that allowed his contemporaries to broadcast throughout the country. Born in Mexico City, Lara became a tremendously prolific songwriter, penning hundreds of songs that have become standards for many Spanish-language performers. The lyrics to "Se Me Hizo Fácil," which has been recorded by singers ranging from operatic superstar Plácido Domingo to the legendary Chavela Vargas, are one of the most adored songs from a singer's memory for a woman who has offered herself. Lara was married at least six times. This version, arranged for Kronos by Oswaldolio Golliv, is a fantasy on Lara's song.

Juan García Esquivel (1918–2002)
"Mini Skirt" [1968, arr. 2001]
Arranged by Oswaldolio Golliv (b. 1960)

Juan García Esquivel was signed by RCA Victor in 1958 just as two channel Hi-Fi stereo systems were being introduced into American households. Audiences were eager to try out their new sound equipment with new recordings and Esquivel's compositions and arrangements pushed stereo's limits. Born in Tampico but raised in Mexico City, he was a piano prodigy, appearing as a soloist on KEW, Mexico City's most popular radio station, at age 14. By 17 he had organized his first orchestra and shortly after took over the radio station band. He constantly experimented with new instruments and his recordings for RCA Victor included bells, xylophones, harmonicas, timbales, guitars, bongos and organs. Also present were vocal choruses that often left the lyrics behind and song's "saw-saw" or "pew-pew" instead — that is, when they weren't whistling or humming. He took full advantage of the stereo phenomenon, creating a staggering array of effects with reverb and the new ability to pan sound from channel to channel. Now known as the king of "Space-Age Bachelor Pad Music," the dashing Esquivel claimed to have written "Mini Skirt" for his singer/dancer wife, Yvonne DeBourbon.

Alberto Domínguez [b. 1913]
"Porfírino" ("Porfirio") [1939, arr. 2001]
Arranged by Stephen Prutsman (b. 1960)
recorded performance by Carlos García, musical lead

While walking through the streets of Mexico City, David Horning heard a sound so poignant and unfamiliar that he was compelled to locate its source. The musician he found was Carlos García, a one-armed street performer playing melodies by blowing on the edge of an ice-cream cone. Originally from the state of Michoacán, directly west of Mexico City, García began performing in the capital in 1937. Since then, he and his wife have built a house and raised their four daughters on the money he earned playing on streets and buses. In his recorded performance, García plays a standard by Chispas-native Alberto Domínguez that has been recorded by the likes of Nat King Cole, Glenn Miller and Jimmy Dorsey. He is accompanied by multiple Krones over-dubbed to evoke the "101 Strings" orchestras of the 1950s and 60s. The original lyrics are the words of a man whose love has betrayed him; the chorus laments, "Woman, if you can speak to God, ask him if ever I stopped loving you."

Silvestre Revueltas (1899–1940)
"Sensensoy" [1937, arr. 2001]
Arranged by Stephen Prutsman (b. 1960)
recorded performance by Tambuco Percussion Ensemble, percussion

A committed anti-fascist and socialist, Mexican composer Silvestre Revueltas considered himself something of a barbarian in the world of upper-class music, often challenging distinctions between "serious" and "popular" music by abandoning traditional European models and weaving into his works traditional and commercial Mexican music. Like the paintings of his contemporaries Diego Rivera, Frida Kahlo and José Clemente Orozco, Revueltas' music helped to establish a national identity in the wake of the Mexican Revolution. This piece is based on a 1934 poem of the same title by poet Nicolás Guillén that describes an Afro-Cuban ritual called "Mato la cubera" (Killing the Snake), one of the most famous rituals of the island's Afro-Cubans — a dance performed every Epiphany to exorcise evil. Made famous in the orchestral version, "Sensensoy" was arranged for Kronos and the Mexican percussion quartet Tambuco, whose members played a wide array of instruments.

This arrangement of "Sensensoy" was commissioned for Kronos Quartet by Margaret Lyon.

Oswaldolio Golliv (b. 1960)
"K'in Svento Chi'l Ma'ik Kwadulpe" ["Festival for the Holy Mother Guadalupe"] (2001)
recorded performance by Joanne Warner, marimba

Among the myriad journeys made by David Lewiston in the 1970s recording music for the influential Nonenuch Explorer series was a trip to Chiapas, the southernmost and most predominantly Indian state in Mexico. In the town of Chimala, Lewiston captured on tape "K'ín Svento Chi'ul Ma'ik Kwadulpe," a ritual performed during the Festival for the Holy Mother Guadalupe, in which the responsibility of taking care of the saint moves from the religious leader of the past year to the new leader. Lewiston writes, "Each year this begins with prayers that emphasize the traditional continuity of the ceremony...The men and their wives dance as they sing...[and at the conclusion, the participants address prayers to the instruments and invite the musicians to rest.] Oswaldolio Golliv's composition integrates the recording of this ceremony with music written for Kronos, joined by Joanne Warner on marimba.

Recording of "K'in Svento Chi'l Ma'ik Kwadulpe" by David Lewiston used by permission of Nonenuch Records.

The Hancher Auditorium staff has always been deeply committed to maintaining your safety while attending our performances. Since 1993 we have had a standing committee on Emergency Preparedness and our personnel are trained to deliver in medical emergencies and orderly building evacuations. But in light of recent events in our country and the world, we knew it was time to take a closer look and make some changes to our policies and procedures. Based on our research with other performing arts facilities and consultation with the university’s Department of Public Safety, we believe these measures will enhance the safety of everyone. The following will take effect immediately.

1. Backups and large bags of any kind will no longer be allowed in Hancher Auditorium. You will be asked to return such items to your vehicle if possible. If absolutely necessary, you may be permitted to check a bag at one of our coatchecks, however, the bag will be opened and inspected in your presence before it is accepted for checking. Hancher Auditorium reserves the right to inspect any bag or package being brought into this facility.

2. Ticket stubs will now be required in order to re-enter the building. If you choose to leave the building at any time during a performance or its intermission, you must have your ticket stub or you will not be allowed to return.

3. Greenroom and Backstage access will be restricted and closely monitored.

We understand that this may cause inconvenience for some individuals and we apologize for that. We strongly believe that these measures will provide added security for everyone and allow auditorium staff, performers and audience alike to enjoy the best possible performances.
Program Notes

NUEVO

Sevariano Briatse [1902 - 1988]
"El Sinaloense" ["The Man from Sinaloa"] [1943/arr. 2001]
Arranged by Osvaldo Gollroy (b. 1960)

This raucous, bawdy song about a drunken character from the western coastal state of Sinaloa was actually written by a man who lived on the opposite coast in the city of Tampico. Sevariano Briatse, who performed with a popular trio in the 1950s called the Trio Tamulapeco, reportedly began writing "El Sinaloense" at a bar in Mazatlán in southern Sinaloa. The song was later made famous by Banda El Recodo de Don Cruz Lizarraga, one of the most well-known of the bandas sinaloenses. Banda El Recodo was founded in the 1930s by Lizarraga in the town of El Recodo, outside of Mazatlán, as a 12-member instrumental ensemble. By the time he died in 1995, the band had grown to 16, comprised mostly of brass players, with a complement of clarinetists, percussionists and vocalists. The band has survived the passing of its first generation of musicians and continues to perform today. It was a recording of this song by Banda El Recodo, with superstar singer/songwriter Juan Gabriel's vocals, that inspired Krons and record producer Gustavo Santolaya to try to capture the bright timbre and virtuosity of the banda's brass section.

Agustín Lara [1896 - 1970]
"Se Me Hizo Fácil" ["It Was Easy for Me"] [1959/arr. 2001]
Arranged by Osvaldo Gollroy (b. 1960)

Agustín Lara’s rise to fame began in 1930 with the installation of a new transmitter in Mexico City that allowed his contemporary Plaza Cremona to broadcast throughout the country. Born in Mexico City, Lara became a tremendously prolific songwriter, penning hundreds of songs that have become standards for many Spanish-language performers. The lyrics to "Se Me Hizo Fácil," which has been recorded by singers ranging from operatic superstar Plácido Domingo to the legendary Chavela Vargas, one about escaping from the singer’s memory the love for a woman who has offended him. Lara was married at least six times. This version, arranged for Krons by Osvaldo Gollroy, is a fantasy on Lara’s song.

Oswaldo Gollroy [1918 - 2002]
"Mini Skirt" [1968/arr. 2001]
Arranged by Osvaldo Gollroy (b. 1960)

Oswaldo Gollroy was signed by RCA Victor in 1958 just as the two channel Hi-Fi stereo systems were being introduced into American households. Audiences were eager to try out their new sound equipment with new recordings and Esquivel’s compositions and arrangements pushed their stereo limits. Born in Tampico but raised in Mexico City, he was a piano prodigy, appearing as a soloist on KEW, Mexico City’s most popular radio station, at age 14. By 17 he had organized his first orchestra and shortly after took over the radio station band. He constantly experimented with new instruments and his recordings for RCA Victor included bells, xylophones, harpsichords, timbales, guiros, bongos and organs. Also present were vocal choruses that often left the lyrics behind and sang their own song, "2u2u2u or "pout" instead – that is, when they weren’t whistling or humming. He took full advantage of the stereo phenomenon, creating a staggering array of effects with reverbs and the new ability to pan sound from channel to channel. Now known as the king of "Space-Age Bachelor Pad Music," the dazzling Esquivel claimed to have written "Mini Skirt" for his singer/dancer wife, Yvonne DeBourbon.

Alberto Domínguez [b. 1913]
"Parlida" ["Parlida"] [1939/arr. 2001]
Arranged by Stephen Prutsman (b. 1960)
recorded performance by Carlos Garcia, musical lead

While walking through the streets of Mexico City, David Harrington heard a sound so poignant and unfamiliar that he was compelled to locate its source. The musician he found was Carlos Garcia, a one-armed street performer playing melodies by blowing on the edge of an icy leaf. Originally from the state of Michoacán, directly west of Mexico City, Garcia began performing in the capital in 1937. Since then, he and his wife have built a house and raised their four daughters on the money he earned playing on streets and buses. In his recorded performance, Garcia plays a standard by Chiapas-native Alberto Domínguez that has been recorded by the likes of Nat King Cole, Glenn Miller and Jimmy Dorsey. He is accompanied by multiple Kronoses ever-dubbed to evoke the "101 Strings" orchestras of the 1950s and 60s. The original lyrics are the words of a man whose love has betrayed him; the chorus laments, "Woman, if you can speak to God, ask him if ever I stopped loving you.”

Silvestre Revueltas [1899 - 1940]
"Sensenayó" [1937/arr. 2001]
Arranged by Stephen Prutsman (b. 1960)
recorded performance by Tambuco Percussion Ensemble, percussion

A committed anti-fascist and socialist, Mexican composer Silvestre Revueltas considered himself something of a barbarian in the world of upper-class music, often challenging distinctions between "serious" and "popular" music by abandoning traditional European models and weaving into his works traditional and commercial Mexican music. Like the paintings of his contemporaries Diego Rivera, Frida Kahlo and José Clemente Orozco, Revueltas’ music helped to establish a national identity in the wake of the Mexican Revolution. This piece is based on a 1934 poem of the same title by poet Nicolás Guillén that describes an Afro-Cuban ritual called "Moto la cubera" (Killing the Snake), one of the most famous rituals of the island’s Afro-Cubans – a dance performed every Epiphany to exorcise evil. Made famous in the orchestral version, "Sensenayó" was arranged for Krons and the Mexican percussion quartet Tambuco, whose members played a wide array of instruments.

This arrangement of "Sensenayó" was commissioned for Krons Quartet by Margaret Lyon.

Oswaldo Gollroy [b. 1960]
"K in Svento Ch’i Tol’Ma’k Kwadulope" ["Festival for the Holy Mother Gualupes"] (2001)
recorded performance by Jeanne Werner, marimba

Among the myriad journeys made by David Lewiston in the 1970s recording music for the influential Nonesuch Explorer series was a trip to Chiapas, the southeastern and most predominantly Indian state in Mexico. In the town of Chamula, Lewiston captured on tape "K’in Svento Ch’i Tol’Ma’k Kwadulope," a ritual performed during the Festival for the Holy Mother Gualupes, in which the responsibility of taking care of the saint moves from the religious leader of the past year to the new leader. Lewiston writes, "It’s like this begin with prayers that emphasize the traditional continuity of the saint...The men and their wives dance as they sing...[and] at the conclusion, the participants address prayers to the instruments and invite the musicians to rest." Oswaldo Gollroy’s composition integrates the recording of this ceremony with music written for Krons, joined by Jeanne Werner on marimba.

Recording of "K’in Svento Ch’i Tol’Ma’k Kwadulope" by David Lewiston used by permission of Nonesuch Records.

The Kronos Quartet remains a deeply committed to maintaining your safety while attending our performances. Since 1993 we have had a standing committee on Emergency Preparedness and our personnel are trained to assist in medical emergencies and order building evacuations. In light of recent events in our country and the world, we knew it was time to take a closer look and make some changes to our policies and procedures. Based on our research with other performing arts facilities and consultation with the university’s Department of Public Safety, we believe these measures will enhance the safety of everyone. The following will take effect immediately.

1. Backpacks and large bags of any kind will no longer be allowed in the Hancher Auditorium. You will be asked to return such items to your vehicle if possible. If absolutely necessary, you may be required to check bag at one of our coatchecks, however, the bag will be opened and inspected in your presence before it is accepted for checking. Hancher Auditorium reserves the right to inspect any bag or package being brought into this facility.

2. Ticket stubs will now be required in order to re-enter the building. If you choose to leave the building at any time during a performance or its intermission, you must have your ticket stub or you will not be allowed to return.

3. Greenroom and backstage access will be restricted and closely monitored.

We understand that this may cause inconvenience for some individuals and we apologize for that. We strongly believe that these measures will provide added security for everyone and allow auditorium staff, performers and audience alike to enjoy the best possible performances.
they have exploded in popularity in northwest Mexico and southern California. Chálońe Sánchez has become one of the most influential naco-corríosingers, especially since his murder at age 31. After leaving a show in Cuticulán, Sinaloa, he was pulled from the car he was in; several hours later his body was found, blindfolded and bound, with two shots in the back of the head. He has been mythologized as the paradigm of a valente, a tough, independent man who lived under his own rules. His corrido about Naco Verduzco tells the story of another valente who was killed in a confrontation with U.S.-supported law enforcement officials at his home, but not before taking out one of the policemen with a .45.

Café Tacuba

"12/12" (2000/2001)

Arranged by Osvaldo Golijov

recorded performance by Café Tacuba and Alejandro Flores, violín, requinto

December 12 is celebrated throughout Mexico as the Day of Our Lady of Guadalupe, the country’s patron saint. In 1531, just a decade after the Spanish Conquest, the Virgin Mary appeared to an indigenous Mexican named Juan Diego on the hill of Tepeyac outside of Mexico City. Associated with her appearance was a series of miracles including the sudden curing of a dying man, unnaturally fragrant flowers that appeared to be painted but then became real and finally the imprint on Juan Diego’s cloak of the Virgin Mary. This piece, written by the Mexican band Café Tacuba in collaboration with Osvaldo Golijov, was conceived as a collection of different moments and environments experienced during the course of the Day of Our Lady of Guadalupe. This five-part sonic portrait of contemporary Mexico weaves together not only the sounds of a rock band and a string quartet, but also traditional Mexican instruments and street sounds. The scenes range from the mariachi bands of Plaza Garibaldi, to the funeral whistle from the crest of a canasta de pampas, to a Veracruz river where four men, accompanied by a flute and drums, leap from a pole while attached to ropes that slowly unwind. The piece ends with the fireworks and balls of Mexico City’s Zócalo on Independence Day (September 16). Café Tacuba was formed in 1989 outside of Mexico City by design students Roberto Albarrán and Joselo Rangel, his brother Enrique and friend Emmanuel del Real.

Stephen Prutsman (b. 1960) is active as a composer, pianist and conductor. Kronos and DAW Grappelli’s recent collaboration featured a number of Prutsman’s arrangements, as well as part of the inaugural concert for The Road Project Yo-Yo Ma performed an arrangement by Prutsman with the New York Philharmonic in March 2001. An Avery Fisher Career Grant recipient and medalist at the Tchaikovsky International Piano Competition and the Queen Elisabeth International Music Competition (Belgium), Prutsman is also the founder of the International Chamber Music Festival in El Roso where he began serving as festival director in 1991.

Osvaldo Golijov (b. 1950) was born in La Plata, Argentina, and lived there and in Jerusalem before coming to the United States in 1986. He studied with George Crumb at the University of Pennsylvania (Ph.D.), and with Lukas Foss and Oliver Knussen at Tanglewood where he received the Koussevitzky Composition Prize. He has been teaching at the College of the Holy Cross since 1991. Golijov’s works incorporates gestures and sound imagery from his background, which includes the western repertory of many periods, Jewish folk traditions from different places and the inevitable tango and other Latin American genres. These various styles of music appear in his work in different stages of transformation, often metamorphosing into something else entirely or even disappearing altogether from the surface. Golijov has twice won the first prize at the Kennedy Center’s Friedheim Awards competition for chamber music composition, in 1993 for Yadvikhkub and in 1995 for The Dreams and Prayers of Isaac the Blind. Kronos’ recording of The Dreams and Prayers of Isaac the Blind is available on None... they have exploded in popularity in northwest Mexico and southern California. Chalino Sánchez has become one of the most influential narcocorrido singers, especially since his murder at age 31. After leaving a show in Culiacán, Sinaloa, he was pulled from the car he was in; several hours later his body was found, blindingly and bound, with two shots in the back of the head. He had been mythologized as the paradigm of a valiente, a tough, independent man who lived under his own rules. His corrido about Nicolás Verdugo tells the story of another valiente who was killed in a confrontation with U.S. supported law enforcement officials at his bar, but not before taking out one of the policemen with a .45.

Café Tacuba

"12/12" (2000/arr. 2001)
Arranged by Osvaldo Galijov (b.1960)
recorded performance by Café Tacuba and Alejandro Flores, violín, requinto

December 12 is celebrated throughout Mexico as the Day of Our Lord of Guadalupe, the country’s patron saint. In 1531, just a decade after the Spanish Conquest, the Virgin Mary appeared to an indigenous Mexican named Juan Diego on the hill of Tepeyac, outside of Mexico City. Associated with her appearance was a series of miracles including the sudden curing of a dying man, unnaturally fragrant flowers that appeared to be painted but then became real and finally the imprint on Juan Diego’s cloak of the Virgin Mary. This piece, written by the Mexican band Café Tacuba in collaboration with Osvaldo Galijov, was conceived as a collection of different moments and environments experienced during the course of the Day of Our Lady of Guadalupe. This five-part sonic portrait of contemporary Mexico weaves together not only the sounds of a rock band and a string quartet, but also traditional Mexican instruments and street sounds. The scenes range from the mariachi bands of Plaza Garibaldi, to the loud whales from the coast of a cantina, the darkened streets of Papaneca, a Veracruz river where four men, accompanied by a flutes and drums, leap from a pole while attached to ropes that slowly unwind. The pieces ends with the fireworks and bells of Mexico City’s Zócalo on Independence Day (September 16).

Café Tacuba was formed in 1989 outside of Mexico City by three students Rubén Albarrán and Joselo Rangel, his brother Enrique and friend Emmanuel del Real. Stephen Prutsman (b.1960) is active as a composer, pianist and conductor. Kronos and David Tipton’s recent collaboration featured a number of Prutsman’s arrangements, and as part of the inaugural concert for The Rock Road Project Yo-Yo Ma performed an arrangement by Prutsman with the New York Philharmonic in March 2001. An Avery Fisher Career Grant recipient and medallist at the Tchaikovsky International Piano Competition and the Queen Elisabeth International Music Competition (Belgium), Prutsman is also the founder of the International Chamber Music Festival in El Paso where he began serving as festival director in 1991.

Osvaldo Galijov (b.1960) was born in La Plata, Argentina, and lived there and in Jerusalem before coming to the United States in 1985. He studied with George Crumb at the University of Pennsylvania (Ph.D.), and with Lukas Foss and Oliver Knussen at Tanglewood where he received the Koussevitzky Composition Prize. He has been teaching at the College of the Holy Cross since 1991. Galijov’s work incorporates gestures and sound imagery from his background, which includes the western repertory of many periods, Jewish folk traditions from different places and the inevitable tango and other Latin American genres. These various styles of music appear in his work in different stages of transformation, often metamorphosing into something else entirely or even disappearing altogether from the surface. Galijov has twice won the first prize at the Kennedy Center’s Freidheim Awards competition for chamber music composition, in 1993 for Yaddikhov and in 1995 for The Dreams and Prayers of Isaac the Blind. Kronos’ recording of The Dreams and Prayers of Isaac the Blind is available on Nonne.
Peteris Vasks was born in 1946 in Aizpute, Latvia, the son of a Baptist minister. When he was eight years old he composed his first piece and pursued his musical studies by attending the E. Darbza High School of Music in the Latvian capital of Riga. By Soviet standards his religious background was a liability that precluded the opportunity to study in Latvia. In 1964 he moved to Vilnius to study double-bass with V. Serekaite at the Lithuanian Academy of Music where he became familiar with the music of the Polish avant-garde. After two years of military service in the Soviet Army in the early 1970s, he studied composition with Valentins Ulkis at the Latvian Academy of Music. Vasks was a member of various symphonic and chamber orchestras from 1963-74. Since then he has concentrated on composing and lives in Riga. In 1996 he received the Johann Heder Prize from the University of Vienna for contributions in the field of culture demonstrating integrity of conscience. Vasks’ work has been widely performed, recorded and broadcast in Latvia and throughout the former Soviet Union, as well as Europe.

Vasks’ music combines both traditional styles and recent musical thoughts, often using motifs from Latvian folk music. The titles of his work frequently relate to events in nature, but this is not merely for the purpose of elevating nature to an aesthetic ideal, it is the reciprocal relationship between nature and man, the beauty of life and the threat of ecological and moral destruction of values that concern him.

“When I think about contemporary life it’s impossible not to realize that we are balanced on the edge of time’s end,” writes Vasks. “It’s frighteningly close. But is there any point to composing a piece that only mirrors our being one step away from extinction?” To my mind, every honest composer searches for a way out of his time’s crises. Towards affirmation, towards faith. He shows how humanity can overcome this passion for self-annihilation that flares up in a column of black smoke from time to time. And if I can find this way out, a reason for hope, the outline of a perspective, then I offer it as my model.”

About Quartet No. 4, Vasks writes:

“I composed my fourth string quartet in 1999. While working on the score, I often reflected upon the passing century. My reflections were somber ones. There has been so much bloodshed and destruction, and yet love’s power and idealism have helped to keep the world in balance. I wanted to speak of these things in my new quartet; not from the sidelines, but with direct emotion and sensitivity. The quartet is composed of five movements. Movement I, Elegy: As many of my other compositions, this one originates in silence, through which a motive from the Latvian folk song “Who were they who sang?” (“Kas tie toti, kas dzieda dzīvotis”) is gradually heard. The introductory passage was inspired by distant, half-forgotten memories, tinged occasionally by the painful realization of time’s relentless passing. Stringed chords introduce the second movement, Toccata I. My musical portrayal of this movement is in spirit close to that of Shostakovich’s style; it is aggressive and, at times, also ironic. The third movement, Chorale, follows without interruption. It is filled by spiritually intense and concentrated passages of extended singing, with its expressive nature remaining constant throughout dynamic and textural changes. This movement’s culmination provides only a momentary reprieve from the searching, restless quality characteristic of it, and that of the fourth movement, Toccata II, in which the musical material of the second movement returns. The ‘fogato’ episode of the fourth movement introduces not only this particular movement’s, but the whole quartet’s main culmination, as the violins, playing in octaves of the high register, intone motives from the Latvian folk song “Return, dear Son, to God” (“E solve, dzies pi Dievas”). In moments of deepest feeling or doubt, I am able to find a certain consolation and strength in the roots of my native country. The fifth movement, Meditation, is a subdued, endless song played by muted strings, created by two complementary musical renderings. The codas reiterates the folk song motive heard in the first movement until the music vanishes into silence and infinity. “I have dedicated Quartet No. 4 to my mother — in love, gratitude and admiration.” [translated by Dace Aperane]

Quartet No. 4 was commissioned for the Kronos Quartet by Mrs. Ralph I. Dollman.

Greg Dubinsky contributed to the program notes for “Sensanovsky” and “Cuarto Milpas.” Sam Quinones contributed to the program note for “Nacho Verdezko.”

Nuevo was commissioned by Handarch Auditorium/University of Iowa; Performing Arts Center/University of Texas; Austin; Washington Performing Arts Society; Cal Performances/University of California, Berkeley; Montalvo Center for the Arts; and UA Presents/University of Arizona, Tucson. Nuevo was also supported in part by grants from the National Endowment for the Arts, the California Challenge Program of the California Arts Council, the US-Mexico Fund for Culture, The James Irvine Foundation, The William and Flora Hewlett Foundation, The San Francisco Foundation, Judith Bizot and Simon Collier.

Kronos Quartet
David Harrington, Violin
John Sherba, Violin
Hank Dutt, Viola
Jennifer Culp, Cello

Larry Niel, Lighting Designer
Scott Fraser, Audio Engineer

For Kronos Quartet:
Janet Cowpentwine, Managing Director
Laaid Resler, Associate Director
Sidney Chen, Project Manager
Leslie Dean Mainier, Office Manager
Larry Niel, Production Director
Barbara Whippetman, Business Operations Manager

Kronos Quartet records exclusively for Nonenuch Records.

YouHave nothing but
We Take
In Your Work!

Printing
Color Copies
Large Format Color
Self-Serve Copies
Design

TechGraphics
Your Office Centre
Iowa City
Paisa Centre One
354-9550
Cedarville
Baker/Var Square/474 1st Ave.
354-1204

Cedar Rapids
3141 Center Point Rd. NE
364-7010

19
Peteris Vasks was born in 1946 in Aizpute, Latvia, the son of a Baptist minister. When he was eight years old he composed his first piece and pursued his musical studies by attending the E. Darins High School of Music in the Latvian capital of Riga. By Soviet standards his religious background was a liability that precluded the opportunity to study in Latvia. In 1964 he moved to Vilnius to study double-bass with V. Sereika at the Lithuanian Academy of Music where he became familiar with the music of the Polish avant-garde. After two years of military service in the Soviet Army in the early 1970s, he studied composition with Valerius Utkins at the Latvian Academy of Music. Vasks was a member of various symphonic and chamber orchestras from 1963-74. Since then he has concentrated on composing and lives in Riga. In 1996 he received the Johann Heider Prize from the University of Vienna for contributions in the field of culture demonstrating integrity of conscience. Vasks’ work has been widely performed, recorded and broadcast in Latvia and throughout the former Soviet Union, as well as Europe.

Vasks music combines both traditional styles and recent musical thoughts, often using motifs from Latvian folk music. The titles of his work frequently relate to events in nature, but this is not merely for the purpose of elevating nature to an aesthetic ideal, it is the reciprocal relationship between nature and man, the beauty of life and the threat of ecological and moral destruction of values that concern him.

"When I think about contemporary life it’s impossible not to realize that we are balanced on the edge of time’s end," writes Vasks. "It’s frighteningly close. But is there any point to composing a piece that only mirrors our being one step away from extinction? To my mind, every honest composer searches for a way out of his time’s crises. Towards affirmation, towards faith. He shows how humanity can overcome this passion for self-annihilation that flares up in a column of black smoke from time to time. And if I can find this way out, a reason for hope, the outline of a perspective, then I offer it as my model.”

About Quartet No. 4, Vasks writes:

"I composed my fourth string quartet in 1999. While working on the score, I often reflected upon the passing century. My reflections were somber ones. There has been so much bloodshed and destruction, and yet love’s power and idealism have helped to keep the world in balance. I wanted to speak of these things in my new quartet; not from the sidelines, but with direct emotion and sensitivity. The quartet is composed of five movements. Movement I, Elegy: As many of my other compositions, this one originates in silence, through which a motif from the Latvian folk song ‘Who were they who sang?’ (‘Kas tie todi, kas dziedazo?’) is gradually heard. The introductory passage was inspired by distant, half-forgotten memories, tinged occasionally by the painful realization of one’s relentless passing. Stringing chords introduce the second movement, Toccata J. My musical portrayal of this movement is in spirit close to that of Shostakovich’s style; it is aggressive and, at times, also ironic. The third movement, Chorale, follows without interruption. It is filled by spiritually intense and concentrated passages of extended singing, with its expressive nature remaining constant throughout dynamic and textural changes. This movement’s culmination provides only a momentary respite from the searching, restless quality characteristic of it, and that of the fourth movement, Toccata J, in which the musical material of the second movement returns. The ‘tragico’ episode of the fourth movement introduces not only this particular movement’s, but the whole quartet’s main culmination, as the violins, playing in octaves of the high register, intone motives from the Latvian folk song ‘Return, dear Son, to God!’ (‘Ev solie, dzie pie Dieva’). In moments of deepest feeling or doubt, I am able to find a certain consolation and strength in the roots of my native country. The fifth movement, Meditation, is a subdued, endless string played by muted strings, created by two complementary musical renderings. The coda reiterates the folk song motive heard in the first movement until the music vanishes into silence and infinity.

"I have dedicated Quartet No. 4 to my mother—in love, gratitude and admiration." [translated by Dace Aperane]

Quartet No. 4 was commissioned for the Kronos Quartet by Mrs. Ralph I. Dorflman.

Greg Dubinsky contributed to the program notes for “Sensannays” and “Cuatro Milpas.” Sam Quinones contributed to the program note for “Nacho Verdúzco.”

Nuevo was commissioned by Hudson Auditory/University of Iowa; Performing Arts Center/University of Texas, Austin; Washington Performing Arts Society; Cal Performances/University of California, Berkeley; Montalvo Center for the Arts; and UA Presents/University of Arizona, Tucson. Nuevo was also supported in part by grants from the National Endowment for the Arts, the California Challenge Program of the California Arts Council, the US-Mexico Fund for Culture, The James Irvine Foundation, The William and Flora Hewlett Foundation, The San Francisco Foundation, Judith Bizot and Simon Collier.

Kronos Quartet
David Harrington, Violin
John Sherba, Violin
Hank Dutt, Violin
Jennifer Culp, Cello

Larry Niff, Lighting Designer
Scott Fraser, Audio Engineer

For Kronos Quartet:
Janet Cowpentworth, Managing Director
Lezid Riedel, Associate Director
Sidney Chen, Project Manager
Leslie Dean Mainer, Office Manager
Larry Niff, Production Director
Barbara whippinger, Business Operations Manager

Kronos Quartet records exclusively for Nonesuch Records.
Fall in love with king'singers

The vagaries and varieties of love will undergo an incomparable musical exploration when the king'singers (formerly King's Singers) return to the Hancher stage on March 8, with support from the Sheraton Iowa City Hotel and media support from the Iowa City Press-Citizen, to present a program entitled Love's Philosophy. The six men Newweek calls "the leading practitioners today of close-harmony male singing" will deliver an evening of a cappella amour with their trademark combination of artistry and enjoyment.

"Avoiding constant superlatives is difficult if not impossible in describing the King's Singers concert," raves the Washington Post. "They really must be heard to be believed. But it would hardly do them justice merely to say that each selection technically was perfect. No detail of style or interpretation was left to chance, and yet everything seemed perfectly natural. Communication with the audience, whether through music, facial expression or humorous gesture, was direct and constant. By the time they had concluded the program, the King's Singers had more than earned a standing ovation and a call for encores."

Love's Philosophy features English and Italian madrigals. "The King's Singers have few, if any, peers in the manner in which they make on Italian madrigal come alive," according to the San Francisco Chronicle), as well as works by Gorecki, Sibylus, Taverner and Franz Schubert. In addition, the sextet will perform A Lover's Journey by Libby Larsen, a Minneapolis native and composer of a piece for the Cleveland Quartet which was one of Hancher Auditorium's earliest commissions. King singers premiered A Lover's Journey on Valentine's Day 2001 in New York. The New York Times calls Larsen's work, "an inventive compilation of love texts from Joyce and Shakespeare." Examining both the trials and triumphs of love, the king'singers will reaffirm their passion for making music and their unique ability to make audiences fall in love with them.

While Schubert's name is known to most music lovers, names like Gorecki and Taverner may not be as familiar. Henryk Gorecki's Symphony No. 3 op. 36, Symphony of Lamentation Songs, recorded in 1992 by soprano Dawn Upshaw with the London Sinfonietta under the direction of David Zinman, may be his best known piece in the United States. The Polish composer's Tota bona, first performed in 1987 and broadcast live to vast crowds in Warsaw's Victory Square during Pope John Paul II's Third Pilgrimage to Poland, will open the king'singers' performance and demonstrate Gorecki's skill as a composer of shorter choral pieces.

Sir John Taverner, whose music was a key component of the 2001 performance of the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center, is one of Britain's leading contemporary composers. His music, like Gorecki's, springs from deep religious conviction, and his 1989 composition, The Lamb, with text by William Blake, promises to be a highlight of the king'singers' musical study of love.

"The only possible response to [king'singers] is superelevation," says the Seattle Times. "How do they do it? They are so precise, so mutually attuned, that they have virtually redefined the art of ensemble singing."

Bring someone you love to hear one of today's greatest vocal groups sing some of the greatest love songs of times gone by — and of more recent times, as well. Reserve your tickets by calling 355-1160 or 1-800-HANCHER. You can find more information or order tickets online at www.uiowa.edu/hancher.
Perfumes, etc...

Hancher patrons are reminded that some patrons are allergic or sensitive to cologne, perfume, or after-shave lotion. In consideration of this fact, you are requested to refrain from wearing artificial scents of any kind when attending performances at Hancher. Patrons with such sensitivities who wish to be seated should speak with Box Office personnel.

Services for Persons with Disabilities

Hancher is committed to making its events accessible to everyone. Large print format copies of the program are available at the program stands.

Patrons who require accommodation for wheelchairs are urged to notify the Box Office at the time of ticket purchase. Parking for people with disabilities is reserved on the drive outside the auditorium's main entrance. Elevators on the east and west sides of the lobby serve the Hancher Cafe.

Patrons who are hearing impaired may check out free hearing augmentation devices by leaving a driver's license or similar ID at the main floor coat check. The unobtrusive hearing augmentation units operate on a FM frequency, and can be used anywhere in the auditorium.

Please call 319-335-1158 with questions or requests for accommodations for people with disabilities. TDD service is also available on this line and can be used to purchase tickets.

Fall in love with king'singers

The vagaries and varieties of love will undergo an incomparable musical exploration when the King'singers (formerly King's Singers) return to the Hancher stage on March 8, with support from the Sheraton Iowa City Hotel and media support from the Iowa City Press-Citizen, to present a program entitled Love's Philosophy. The six men Newsweek calls "the leading practitioners today of close-harmony male singing" will deliver an evening of a cappella music with their trademark combination of artistry and enjoyment.

"Avoiding constantuperstitions is difficult if not impossible in describing the King's Singers concert," raves the Washington Post. "They really must be heard to be believed. But it would hardly do them justice merely to say that each selection technically was perfect. No detail of style or interpretation was left to chance, and yet everything seemed perfectly natural. Communication with the audience, whether through music, facial expression or humorous gesture, was direct and constant. By the time they had concluded the program, the King's Singers had more than earned a standing ovation and a call for encores."

Love's Philosophy features English and Italian madrigals. "The King's Singers have few, if any, peers in the manner in which they make on Italian madrigal come alive," according to the San Francisco Chronicle, as well as works by Górecki, Sibelius, Tavener, and Franz Schubert. In addition, the sextet will perform A Lover's Journey by Libby Larsen, a Minneapolis native and composer of a piece for the Cleveland Quartet which was one of Hancher Auditorium's earliest commissions. King Singers premiered A Lover's Journey on Valentine's Day 2001 in New York. The New York Times calls Larsen's work, "an inventive compilation of texts from Joyce and Shakespeare." Examining both the trials and triumphs of love, the king'singers will reaffirm their passion for making music and their unique ability to make audiences fall in love with them.

While Schubert's name is known to most music lovers, names like Górecki and Tavener may not be as familiar. Henryk Górecki's Symphony No. 3 op. 36, Symphony of Lamentation Songs, recorded in 1992 by soprano Dawn Upshaw with the London Sinfonietta under the direction of David Zinman, may be his best known piece in the United States. The Polish composer's Toto Vox, first performed in 1987 and broadcast live to vast crowds in Warsaw's Victory Square during Pope John Paul II's Third Pilgrimage to Poland, will open the king'singers' performance and demonstrate Górecki's skill as a composer of shorter choral pieces.

Sir John Tavener, whose music was a key component of the 2001 performance of the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center, is one of Britain's leading contemporary composers. His music, like Górecki's, springs from deep religious conviction, and his 1989 composition, The Lamb, with text by William Blake, promises to be a highlight of the king'singers' musical study of love.

"The only possible response [to King Singers'] interpertation," says the Seattle Times, "is how do they do it... They are so precise, so emotionally attuned, that they have virtually redefined the art of ensemble singing."

Bring someone you love to hear one of today's greatest vocal groups sing some of the greatest love songs of times gone by -- and of more recent times, as well. Reserve your tickets by calling 335-1160 or 1-800-HANCHER. You can find more information or order tickets online at www.uiowa.edu/hancher.
From Django to Jarreau
From Coltrane to Krall
From Cedar Rapids to Iowa City

The arts and our community come together on 100.1

Eble Music Co.
Sheet Music and Books
115 S. Linn St. 338-0313

Dr. Leslie Kramer
Osteopathic Surgeon & Plastician
Board Certified Dermatologist
Skin discases & surgery in children & adults
• Skin Cancers
• Acne Surgery
• Sun Damage
• Collagen Injections
• Chemical Peels
• Facial & Leg Veins

CEDAR RAPIDS DERMATOLOGY
411 10th Street SE Cedar Rapids
Call for appointment: 362-3434

Lost and Found
If you lose an article during a performance, please ask any usher for assistance. Articles not claimed immediately following the performance will be sent to lost and found at the campus parking office located in the Iowa Memorial Union parking ramp.

Hancher-Any Day, Any Time, Anywhere
You may now purchase tickets to Hancher events any day, any time anywhere through Hancher's web site www.uiowa.edu/hancher. Simply click on the Online Tickets button and you will be linked directly into Hancher's new online ticketing system. Directions for placing an order will lead you easily through the process. If you have any problems, call the Hancher Box Office at 335-1160 or 1-800-HANCHER. There is a $1 handling charge per ticket for online orders in addition to the regular $3 per order charge. Tickets will be mailed to you.

25% off Publisher's List

Something for Everyone

Iowa Book LLC
8 South Clinton Street Iowa City, IA 52244 319 337-4188 or FAX 319 337-2045 • Web Site: iowabook.com
The Mansion
Fine Furnishings • Interior Design

"For Those Who Appreciate the Best"
538 South Gilbert
Iowa City
338-2830

We get the accolades.
You get award-winning research.

It's no ordinary string dressing for A.G. Edwards' stock research. In the 2001 "Best on the Street" survey, the firm was rated second in The Wall Street Journal. Eighteen A.G. Edwards research analysts earned this prestigious designation for their superior stock-picking skills or earning-estimate accuracy. If you want the best advice you can get, put the "Best on the Street" to work for you. Call A.G. Edwards financial counselors today to learn more about our award-winning stock research.

A.G. Edwards

Public radio from the University of Iowa.
"We bring you the world."

Tune In. Turn On.
AM 910
91.7 FM
wsui
ksui

NPR PLUS
MUSIC & MORE

GIVE TO HANCHER

A CHRISTMAS CAROL
THE 1952 CHICAGO RADIO BROADCAST
December 16 to 20
adapted from Charles Dickens
by Gail Sheehy

THE SEAGULL
February 21-March 5
by Anton Chekhov

WONDERCHILD
April 4-14 (previews)
by I. E. Franklin

THE MAKING OF AMERICANS
April 25-May 11 (premieres) adapted from Gertrude Stein
by the Gertrude Stein Repertory Company

All performances in the UI Theatre Building.
For tickets call 335-1160 or 1-800-HANCHER.

individuals with disabilities are encouraged to attend all UI sponsored events.
If you require assistance in order to participate in this program, please call 335-3359.

Don't Wait
for the Newspapers

Now you can receive information about all events in the Iowa Center for the Arts in your own electronic mailbox. Free. Without waiting for articles and calendars to appear in the newspaper. Simply send us an e-mail at deborahl-thummaa@uiowa.edu and we will send you an electronic copy of the same newsletter that we send to the media. This will include information on all concerts, theater and dance performances, library readings, exhibitions and other events, as well as important arts news from the University of Iowa.
Hancher Guild

Hancher Guild, one of Johnson County’s premiere volunteer organizations, works with the Hancher Auditorium, an educational and cultural center for the University of Iowa. The Hancher offers a wide range of events, including music, theater, dance, and visual arts, to its members and the general public. The Hancher is known for its high-quality performances and its commitment to providing access to the arts for all. For more information, visit their website at www.uio.edu/hancher/guild.html.

The Mansion
Fine Furnishings • Interior Design

Theatre Arts Department
University Theatres Mainstage
2001-2002 Season

A CHRISTMAS CAROL
December 6-16
adapted from Charles Dickens by Janice Chisholm
THE SEAGULL
February 21-March 9
by Anton Chekhov
WONDERCHILD
April 4-14 (preview)
by J. E. Franklin

THE MAKING OF AMERICANS
April 25-May 12 (preview)
adapted from Gertrude Stein by the Gertrude Stein Repertory Company

GIVE TO HANCHER

NEW HANCHER CIRCULAR LUNCHEON
March 13, 2002

QUESTION: What makes Hancher exceptional?

ANSWER: Hancher is exceptional because of its commitment to providing high-quality performances to the community. It offers a diverse range of events, from classical music to contemporary dance, and is dedicated to making the arts accessible to all. For more information, visit the Hancher website at www.uio.edu/hancher/guild.html.

Don’t Wait for the Newspapers

Tune In. Turn On.
AM 910 KSUI
91.7 FM WSUI
Public radio from the University of Iowa. We bring you the world.

Enclose in my check or credit card authorization for a gift of:

$40.00 $50.00 $100.00 $250.00
Click here to make a tax-deductible gift.

Support the Hancher Circle Fund using your credit card:

Credit card number
Expiration date
Monats Year

Name

Address
City, State, ZIP

The Hancher Circle Fund
The University of Iowa Foundation
P.O. Box 4550
Iowa City, IA 52244-4550
(319) 335-3350 (800) 648-6913
www.uifoundation.org/hancher
Anonymous 4 and Lionheart take on Gods and Mortals

Gods and mortals, nymphs and shepherds, tragedy and comedy all played on the same world stage during the Renaissance. Poetry from ancient Greece and Rome, including the sad love story of Dido and the wit of Horace and Seneca, was the inspiration for many Renaissance composers. Two a cappella supergroups, Anonymous 4 and Lionheart, breathe new life into many of these pieces in a dazzling musical program entitled Gods and Mortals. The two ensembles will join forces on the Clapp Recital Hall stage on Tuesday, April 16, at 8 p.m. The performance is supported by Group 5 Hospitality/Radisson Higbee Center Plaza.

Spanning several hundred years from the fourteenth to the seventeenth centuries, the Renaissance saw a revival of interest in the civilizations of ancient Greece and Rome while simultaneously witnessing revolutionary advances in the sciences and arts. While many Renaissance figures—Galileo and da Vinci, for example—enjoy worldwide fame to this day, many of the composers of the period are lesser known despite their significant contributions to musical history.

The all-female quartet Anonymous 4 and the all-male sextet Lionheart will seek to improve this situation, performing music by Luca Marenzio and Claudio Monteverdi (perhaps the best known of the composers on the program) among many others.

Though hardly a household name in 2002, Marenzio enjoyed a substantial reputation in the late sixteenth century. He was greatly admired as a composer of madrigals, of which he composed 470, and was known as "The Sweetest Swan" and "The Divine Composer." Published widely in Europe, his work paved the way for Monteverdi, a composer whose work would revolutionize Renaissance music.

Anonymous 4 is renowned for a flawlessness of sound, virtuosic ensemble singing and the ability to combine music with poetry and narrative. "The performance was so perfectly gauged that it was impossible to discern the contribution of individual voices," pronounced a New York Times reviewer. "Hailed for their "smoothly blended and impeccably balanced sound," Anonymous 4 and Lionheart are heard most often interpreting medieval and Renaissance a cappella music, with Gesualdo Chant as the keystone of its repertoire.

The Los Angeles Times heralded the collaboration between Anonymous 4 and Lionheart by saying, "The matchings of musicians and music is certainly felicitous, joining otherwise purely with finely rooted expressivity on several levels," while Anthony Tommasini from the New York Times wrote, "The combined sound of the two groups was miraculous. These vocalists understand that by singing with openness, focused tone and steady, unfocused production, their sound will linger and resonate with haunting beauty."

Don’t miss your chance to enjoy these stunning vocal talents as they recount the myths of Gods and Mortals as envisioned by Renaissance musicians. Reserve your tickets by calling 335-1100 or 1-800-HANOVER. For more information or to order tickets online, visit www.uiowa.edu/hancher.

30th Anniversary Season

June 21 - July 14, 2002

Puccini’s Turandot in Italian with English Supertitles

Strauss’s Salome in German with English Supertitles

Bernstein’s Candide in English

Let the plastic surgeons of University of Iowa Health Care help you establish that confidence. Together we can reach a decision that is right for you. Call us today.

Cosmetic Surgeons

Albert S. Gross, M.D.
A.F. W. Burne, M.D.
John W. Grace, M.D.
Phyllis Cheng, M.D.

319-335-7171

For updated information about Hancher events or to learn more about selected events and activities, visit http://www.uiowa.edu/hancher/
Anonymous 4 and Lionheart take on Gods and Mortals

Gods and mortals, nymphs and shepherds, tragedy and comedy all played on the same world stage during the Renaissance. Poetry from ancient Greece and Rome, including the sad love story of Dido and the wit of Horace and Seneca, was the inspiration for many Renaissance composers. Two a cappella supergroups, Anonymous 4 and Lionheart, breathe new life into many of these pieces in a dazzling musical program entitled Gods and Mortals. The two ensembles will join forces on the Clapp Recital Hall stage on Tuesday, April 16, at 8 p.m. The performance is supported by Group 5 Hospitality/Radisson Highbinder Plaza.

Spanning several hundred years from the fourteenth to the seventeenth centuries, the Renaissance saw a revival of interest in the civilizations of ancient Greece and Rome while simultaneously witnessing revolutionary advances in the sciences and arts. While many Renaissance figures – Galileo and da Vinci, for example – enjoy worldwide fame to this day, many of the composers of the period are lesser known despite their significant contributions to musical history.

The all-female quartet Anonymous 4 and the all-male sextet Lionheart will seek to improve this situation, performing music by Luca Marenzio and Claudio Monteverdi (perhaps the best known of the composers on the program) among many others.

Though hardly a household name in 2002, Marenzio enjoyed a substantial reputation in the late sixteenth century. He was greatly admired as a composer of madrigals, of which he composed 470, and was known as “The Sweeter Swan” and “The Divine Composer.” Published widely in Europe, his work paved the way for Monteverdi, a composer whose work would revolutionize Renaissance music.

Anonymous 4 is renowned for a flawless vocal blend, virtuosic ensemble singing and the ability to combine music with poetry and narrative. “The performance was so perfectly gauged that it was impossible to discern the contribution of individual voices,” said the Washington Post.

Hailed for their “smoothly blended and impeccably balanced sound” (New York Times), Lionheart is heard most often interpreting medieval and Renaissance a cappella music, with Gregorian Chant as the keystone of its repertoire.

The Los Angeles Times heralded the collaboration between Anonymous 4 and Lionheart by saying, “The matchings of music and music is certainly felicitous, joining otherwise purely with family rooted expressivity on several levels,” while Anthony Tommasini from the New York Times wrote, “The combined sound of the two groups was mystical. These vocalists understand that by singing with open, focused tone and steady, unforced production, their sound will linger and resonate with haunting beauty.”

Don’t miss your chance to enjoy these stunning vocal talents as they recount the myths of Gods and Mortals as envisioned by Renaissance musicians. Reserve your ticket by calling 335-1160 or 1-800-HANCHEER. For more information or to order tickets online, visit www.uiowa.edu/hancher.

Calendar Info 24/7
You can get the latest information on the schedule of arts events at the University of Iowa, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week by going to the ArtsIowa calendar on the world-wide-web at http://www.uiowa.edu/artsIowa. Calendar changes are made immediately, and the calendar is updated daily, so that the event listings on this web page represent the most recent, most up-to-the-minute information available anywhere.

Binoculars Rental
Rental binoculars are available at the Hancher Showcase. Binoculars are available at a rental rate of $5 per show. A security deposit is required. Inquire at the Showcase for more information.

http://www.uiowa.edu/hancher/
Buena Vista Social Club

It would be fair to say that Omara Portuondo’s appearance on the Grammy-award winning recording Buena Vista Social Club was a case of good timing. It would also be accurate to say that music fans with good timing will be found in Hancher Auditorium at 8 p.m. on April 12 to hear Portuondo’s unique vocal stylings when she and the rest of the Buena Vista Social Club take to the stage for Buena Vista Social Club presents Omara Portuondo.

In 1996, American guitarist Ry Cooder went to Cuba to make a recording featuring some of the island’s most famous and talented musicians from years gone by. By coincidence, Portuondo was in the studio at the same time as Cooder and the Buena Vista Social Club musicians. Cooder had first encountered Portuondo a year earlier while recording in Cuba with the Chieftains, and he was quick to ask her to lend her seductive, velvety vocals to the Buena Vista line-up.

In just two hours, Portuondo delivered one of the highlights of Buena Vista Social Club with her touching performance of “Viente Años,” a song of love lost. She also provided one of the most moving moments in Wim Wenders’ film The Buena Vista Social Club, crying a single tear after performing the heartrending “Silencio” with Ibrahim Ferrer.

Despite these fine performances, however, as well as a single appearance on the Distinto, diferente recording by the Afro-Cuban All Stars, the full range of Portuondo’s gifts had seldom been on display to American audiences. Not so in her native land, where she has been a fixture of the music scene for many years.

Portuondo’s career began quite by accident in 1945 when she was asked to fill in for a dancer who had dropped out of a scheduled performance at the famed Tropicana. Portuondo, though reluctant, knew the choreography by heart, having watched her older sister Haydee rehearse for the show. Her performance marked the beginning of a long association with the Tropicana that continues to this day.

With her sister, Portuondo was soon singing in a bossa nova style spiced with American jazz and Cuban influences in a group known as Loquibambola Swing. The style became known as “feeling,” or “filin,” as it is often rendered in Spanish. Portuondo was — and is — the foremost performer of “feeling” music, known in Cuba as “la movil del filin” — the flair of feeling.

In the early 1950s, the two sisters made up half of the acclaimed quartet Las D’Aida, a group they would perform with for 15 years. Portuondo made her first solo album in 1959, and in the early 1960s became an even more important part of the Cuban music scene in the aftermath of the Cuban Missile Crisis. A revamped Las D’Aida continued to perform until Portuondo struck out on her own for good in 1967. In the 1970s, she performed with the respected charanga group Orquesta Aragon and traveled widely, but mainly to other Communist countries, depriving most Western ears the opportunity to hear one of the premier singers of her time.

Hancher Showcase

The Hancher Guild Showcase, which is located in the northwest corner of the Hancher Auditorium lobby, begins its seventh year in this new location during the 2001-02 season. This delightful gift shop, which is operated by approximately 65-75 volunteers each year, provides an opportunity for Hancher patrons to purchase unique gifts that are available at reasonable prices and not found elsewhere in the Iowa City area. Profits from The Showcase help to support Hancher’s education program. In 2001-02 proceeds are being used to support performances by Children’s Theater Company. These are matinee performances at greatly reduced prices for school groups.

A Showcase merchandising committee makes several buying trips during the year to gift shows, as well as contacting local artists, and ordering from catalog companies to seek out exciting merchandise.

The Guild Showcase is open during every Hancher event and on Wednesdays from 10:30 p.m. to 1:30 p.m.

When attending a Hancher event take time to browse and shop the Guild Showcase. New merchandise is being added all the time.

Working together
to support the arts.

Donna & Paul Davis

Office: 887-7327 Home: 351-6870
44 Sturgis Corner Drive Iowa City, IA 52246
E-mail: DavisDonna@es.com

DANCE OF IOWA

Iowa City 351-7593 • Coralville 337-4976
Professional Instruction for Preschool through Adult
Classical Ballet • Pointe • Jazz • Tap
Hancher Auditorium is home to our most exciting event of the year, The Hancher Dance Extravaganza, featuring all of our dancers!

DESIGN RANCH

ON THE CORNER

Dodge & Davenport St.
Iowa City, IA 52242
319-354-1423
Tuesday - Saturday 10:30 - 5:00
Sunday 1-5 • Saturday 19 - Sunday 15
Monday Closed
Or by appointment

New & Classic designs at GREAT NEW Pricing
Herman Miller for the home

Van Sickles

tyle defined

experience our unique environment...womans fashion • art gallery
319-362-3007 • 201 third avenue se • cedar rapids/iowa 52401
Buena Vista Social Club

Omara Portuondo

It would be fair to say that Omara Portuondo’s appearance on the Grammy award-winning recording Buena Vista Social Club was a case of good timing. It would also be accurate to say that music fans with good timing will be found in Hancher Auditorium at 8 p.m. on April 12 to hear Portuondo’s unique vocal stylings when she and the rest of the Buena Vista Social Club take to the stage for Buena Vista Social Club presents Omara Portuondo.

In 1996, American guitarist Ry Cooder went to Cuba to make a recording featuring some of the island’s most famous and talented musicians from years gone by. By coincidence, Portuondo was in the studio at the same time as Cooder and the Buena Vista Social Club musicians. Cooder had first encountered Portuondo a year earlier while recording in Cuba with the Chifteltes, and he was quick to ask her to lend her seductive, velvety vocals to the Buena Vista line-up.

In just two hours, Portuondo delivered one of the highlights of Buena Vista Social Club with her touching performance of “Veinte Años,” a song of love lost. She also provided one of the most moving moments in Wim Wenders’ film The Buena Vista Social Club, crying a single tear after performing the heartrendingly “Silencio” with Ibrahim Ferrer.

Despite these fine performances, however, as well as a single appearance on the Distinto, diferente recording by the Afro Cuban All Stars, the full range of Portuondo’s gifts has seldom been on display to American audiences. Not so in her native land, where she has been a fixture of the music scene for many years.

Portuondo’s career began quite by accident in 1945 when she was asked to fill in for a dancer who had dropped out of a scheduled performance at the famed Tropicana. Portuondo, though reluctant, knew the choreography by heart, having watched her older sister Haydee rehearse for the show. Her performance marked the beginning of a long association with the Tropicana that continues to this day.

With her sister, Portuondo was soon singing in a bossa nova style spiced with American jazz and Cuban influences in a group known as Luquibambla Swing. The style became known as “feeling,” or “filin” as it is often rendered in Spanish. Portuondo was – and is – the foremost performer of “feeling” music, known in Cuba as “lo movil del filin” – “the fancies of feeling.”

In the early 1950s, the two sisters made up half of the acclaimed quartet Lás Daida, a group they would perform with for 15 years. Portuondo made her first solo album in 1959, and for the early 1960s became an even more important part of the Cuban music scene in the aftermath of the Cuban Missile Crisis. A revamped Lás Daida continued to perform until Portuondo forced her programme to a rest in 1967. In the 1970s, she performed with the respected charanga group Orquesta Aragon and traveled widely, but mainly to other Communist countries, depriving most Western ears the opportunity to hear one of the premier singers of her time.

Comming Soon...

Hancher Showcase

The Hancher Guild Showcase, which is located in the northwest corner of the Hancher Auditorium lobby, begins its seventh year in this new location during the 2001-02 season. This delightful gift shop, which is operated by approximately 65-75 volunteers each year, provides an opportunity for Hancher patrons to purchase unique gifts that are available at reasonable prices and not found elsewhere in the Iowa City area. Profits from The Showcase help to support Hancher’s education program. In 2001-02 proceeds are being used to support performances by Children’s Theater Company. These are matinee performances at greatly reduced prices for school groups.

A Showcase merchandising committee makes several buying trips during the year to gift shows, as well as contacting local artists, and ordering from catalog companies to seek out exciting merchandise.

The Guild Showcase is open during every Hancher event and on Wednesdays from 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

When attending a Hancher event take time to browse and shop the Guild Showcase. New merchandise is being added all the time.
HANCER AUDITORIUM—www.uiowa.edu/hancer

- King Singers. March 8, 8 pm, HA
- Blasit. April 2, 8 pm; April 6 & 7, 2 & 8 pm, HA
- Buena Vista Social Club. April 12, 8 pm, HA
- Anonymous 4 and Lichener. April 16, 8 pm, CRH
- Ying Quartet. April 19, 8 pm, CRH

SCHOOL OF MUSIC—www.uiowa.edu/music

- Philharmonic Chamber Orchestra. March 3, 3 pm, CRH
- Leopoldo Lo Fosse and Timothy Shiu, violins. March 3, 8 pm, CRH
- David Katz, baritone, and Kathy Charles, piano. March 4, 8 pm, CRH
- Lo Fosse Jazz Trio. March 6, 8 pm, CRH
- Musicology and Theory Colloquium, Jonathan Hixon, speaker. March 8, 1:30 pm, 1027 VMB
- Jergal Community Concert Series: La Fosse Baroque Ensemble. March 9, 3 pm, CRH
- Iowa Wind Quintet. March 9, 8 pm, CRH
- St. Matthew Passion. University Symphony and Choruses. March 10, 2 pm, HA
- Iowa Bass Quintet. March 13, 8 pm, CRH
- New Opus Trio. March 27, 8 pm, CRH
- John Robin Jazz performance. March 29, 8 pm, CRH
- Musicology and Theory Colloquium, Jane Fulcher, speaker. March 29, 1:30 pm, 1027 VMB
- Krivina Nosikova, piano. March 30, 8 pm, CRH

DEPARTMENT OF DANCE—www.uiowa.edu/dance

- Burnett/Mead Finizio Thesis Concert. April 4, 5 & 6, 8 pm, SP
- Medina/Sokol Sigler Thesis Concert. April 18, 19 & 20, 8 pm, SP

MUSEUM OF ART—www.uiowa.edu/artmuseum

- From the Outside In: Photographs of Buildings. Through March 10, MA

LIVE FROM PRAIRIE LIGHTS—www.prairielights.com/livelivemfromplights.htm

- Forrest Gander, Tom Averke. March 7, 8 pm, PL
- Doug Marlette, The Bridge. March 8, 8 pm, PL
- Mary Leader, The Penultimate Suit. March 12, 8 pm, PL
- Carolyn Briggs, This Dark World: A Memoir of Salvation Found and Lost. March 13, 8 pm, PL
- Elmar Liewl, No Such Country: Essays Toward Home. March 14, 8 pm, PL
- Beth Roberts, Brief Moral History in Blue. March 15, 8 pm, PL
- Sarah Manguso, The Captain Lands in Paradise. March 27, 8 pm, PL
- Neil Miller, Sex-Crime Panic. March 28, 8 pm, PL

HANCER AUDITORIUM Information

HANCER Auditorium is a component of the Office of Student Services, University of Iowa. Box Office: Open from 10:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Saturday, 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Sunday. If a performance falls on a Saturday or Sunday, the Box Office will remain open until 5:30 p.m. If a performance falls on a Saturday or Sunday, the Box Office is open until 8:30 p.m. If a performance falls on a Saturday or Sunday, the Box Office hours are 1:00 to 8:30 p.m. Telephonic: 319/335-1100, or toll-free in Iowa and western Illinois 1-800-HANCER.

Seating Policy: To avoid disrupting the performance, latecomers will be directed to the observation rooms and will be seated during an appropriate break in the performance, at the discretion of the management. If you must leave during a performance and later wish to re-enter the auditorium, an usher will escort you to an observation booth until an intermission or the conclusion of the performance.

General: The greenroom, located on the north side of the lobby, is the site of discussions preceding many events and is also a convenient place to meet artists following a performance. Ask an usher, or check the lobby sign for availability of performers.

Smoking: Smoking is not permitted anywhere in the auditorium, lobby, or cafe. If you wish to smoke during intermissions, you may leave the building temporarily, but please take your ticket stub with you to re-enter the building.

Caffeine: Caffeine is prohibited in the auditorium and lobby areas of the Center. Please be sure to take your coffee or soda with you when you leave the building.

Restrooms and Landmarks: Located on either side of the lobby and mezzanine.
Hancher Auditorium Information

Hancher Auditorium is a component of the Office of Student Services, University of Iowa.

Box Office: Open from 10:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Saturday, 9 a.m. on nights of performances. The Box Office remains open until 8:30 p.m. If a performance falls on a Saturday or Sunday, Box Office hours are 10:00 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Telephone: 319/335-1160, or toll-free in Iowa and western Illinois 1-800-HANCHER.

Seating Policy: To avoid disrupting the performance, latecomers will be directed to the observation rooms and will be seated during an appropriate break in the performance, at the discretion of the management. If you must leave during a performance and later wish to re-enter the auditorium, an usher will escort you to an observation booth until an intermission or the conclusion of the performance.

Genevieve: The greenroom, located on the river side of the lobby, is the site of discussions preceding many events and is also a convenient place to meet artists following a performance. Ask an usher or check the lobby sign for availability of performers.

Coughing and Electronic Watches: The auditorium’s acoustics amplify the sounds of coughing and other noises. Please turn off your electronic watch alarm. The use of a handkerchief helps to muffle a cough or sneeze, and cough drops are available from the ushers. If coughing persists, you may wish to return to the lobby, where an usher can direct you to one of the soundproof observation rooms.

Smoking: Smoking is not permitted anywhere in the auditorium, lobby, or café. If you wish to smoke during intermissions, you may leave the building, but please take your ticket stub to re-enter the building.

Cameras and Tape Recorders: In compliance with copyright laws and contractual arrangements with artists, photographs and recordings may not be made during a performance. Please check your cameras and tape recorders with the house manager or an usher.

Restrooms and Drinking Fountains: Located on either side of the lobby and mezzanine.
M.C. Ginsberg proudly embraces the University of Iowa’s creative spirit through its support of the performing and visual arts.

Patek Philippe Geneva

Fine jewelry consultants
110 east washington • iowa city, iowa  • 319 351 1700 governor square • west des moines, iowa 52240  • 515 222 1101
800 373 1702 • http://www.mcginsberg.net