ABOUT THE ARTISTS

Drawing their inspiration from traditional Cuban music, seven young musicians formed Asere in the 1990s to create roots music with a contemporary feel while respectfully maintaining the style and passion of the music of their forefathers. Retaining acoustic instruments, they wrote new songs and inventive arrangements, developing a sound for a new generation, and delivered it with an explosive punch. Their fresh energy, endearing personality, and powerful performances soon attracted attention in France and the U.K. From there Asere went on to perform all over the world, from Norway to Sri Lanka. After a successful debut tour of the U.S. in 2016 with the Havana Cuba All-Stars, the band has returned this year in response to popular demand.

Asere has concentrated mainly on the musical heritage of the son style. Son combines African rhythms with song structures from the Spanish musical tradition. Originating in rural eastern Cuba at the end of the 19th century, son became a highly fashionable dance form, taking the elegant salónes of Havana by storm in the early decades of the 20th century. In the 1970s, son became one of the key ingredients of salsa, which emerged out of the Latin scene in New York.

Asere also incorporates into its repertoire other Cuban styles such as nueva trova, cha cha chá, changuí, pilón, and guaguancó. All these distinct rhythms add to the richness of Cuban culture with their own stories and context. Nueva trova, a contemporary ballad style featuring singer-songwriter troubadours, evolved from son, principally in Havana. Changuí comes from a campesino tradition in and around the hills of Guantánamo Province. Guaguancó is an Afro-Cuban groove originating in the marginalized black communities in the dock areas of Havana and Matanzas. Cha cha chá evolved as a popular dance style in the early 1950s.

Over the last three decades, Asere has developed Cuban musical traditions in its own unique way and collaborated with many different artists, including the majestic Colombian singer Tóto la Momposina and legendary the Panamanian-American drummer Billy Cobham.

The word asere (pronounced ah-séré), from the Efik dialect of the Afro-Cuban sect Abakua, is used as a greeting in Cuba.

We are fortunate to feature special guests from the dance group Identidad for this tour. Created in 2012 by Barbarito Montagne in the town of Cienfuegos, Cuba, the company works with young dance graduates in styles that make up the Cuban identity from traditional to contemporary dance. Barbarito himself has over 35 years of experience working as a dancer, choreographer, teacher, and director. He has represented the art of Cuban dance in Germany, Mexico, Haiti, Japan, Bulgaria, and France.
