Great Artists.
Great Audiences.
Hancher Performances.

WELCOME

Here's something that doesn't happen often: an arts organization celebrating an opening season and a 45th anniversary season in back-to-back years.

But that's what we're doing at Hancher Auditorium. After an outstanding first season in our gorgeous new facility at the University of Iowa, we turn our attention now to a celebration of our sapphire anniversary as an organization serving the campus, community, and state since 1972.

As always, we will connect great artists with great audiences—sparking conversation, unlocking creative potential, and bringing people together for unforgettable shared experiences. The 2017–2018 season is filled with world-class artists who will delight us and challenge us. We've been doing this for a long time, but every year we feel the same excitement as we think about the connections and memories that will be made throughout the Hancher season.

This year, we are particularly proud of our Embracing Complexity project, which focuses on Islamic art and Muslim artists. The full project is described elsewhere in this brochure, but I mention it here to highlight our belief that the arts can help us understand one another better. We believe the cultivation of empathy is a defining purpose of the arts. I hope you will join us for our Embracing Complexity events.

On behalf of the entire Hancher staff, I want to thank everyone who has attended even a single Hancher performance over the years. Our work is, in large part, about community building, and we couldn't be more thrilled that you are a part of our community. People often tell us how lucky they feel to have Hancher and our programming available to them. All of us feel lucky to serve the community with the best the performing arts have to offer.

Welcome to our 45th anniversary season!

Chuck Swanson, Executive Director

SUPPORT THE ARTISTRY AT HANCHER!

Each season, more than 2000 families play an essential role in helping Hancher create transformative artistic experiences. Their contributions to the Hancher Circle Fund help make the full range of our programming possible.

Joining the Hancher Circle comes with benefits for the donors, as well. Perhaps the most popular benefit is the opportunity to order tickets before the general public, which is offered to those who donate $1,000 or more to the Hancher Circle in a given year.

Want to join the Hancher Circle? Contact Chuck Swanson or Devin van Holsteijn –or visit our website–for more information.

EMBRACING COMPLEXITY

Join us as Hancher explores and celebrates Islamic art and Muslim artists

Hancher has been awarded a grant from the Association of Performing Arts Professionals (APAP) for the Building Bridges: Arts, Culture, and Identity program. APAP sought projects designed to build knowledge and appreciation for arts and culture with roots in Muslim-majority societies.

Hancher's project, Embracing Complexity, will take a multidisciplinary and collaborative approach to building understanding of contemporary Islamic cultures and Muslim identity. Artists will be in residence at various times over the course of two years and will work with partners both on and off the University of Iowa campus on a broad range of activities including performances, classes, exhibits, discussions, and lectures. The project will also document and explore the experiences of Muslims in Eastern Iowa through sharing of local stories and oral histories. Embracing Complexity is in keeping with the University of Iowa's commitment to diversity.

Our goal is to build textured knowledge of Islamic cultures, while creating a greater sense of empathy for the experiences of peoples of diverse racial, ethnic, and religious backgrounds. We believe this is an urgent program at this moment.

This project is made possible in part by a grant from the Association of Performing Arts Professionals - Building Bridges: Arts, Culture, and Identity, a component of the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation and Doris Duke Foundation for Islamic Art.

Happy Hour

Thursday, August 24, 6:30 and 9 pm
 Friday, August 25, 6:30 pm
 Strauss Hall

It's an after-work office party. It's also a dance show. Dancers Monica Bill Barnes and Anna Bass (last seen in Iowa City with Ira Glass in Hancher's presentation of Three Acts, Two Dancers, One Radio Host) crash a party that the whole audience is invited to. Dressed in men's suits and playing a pair of guys everyone knows, the duo desperately tries to win over the crowd. It's painfully—and hilariously—clear that these two are terribly unsuited for the roles they insist on playing.

Hancher Green

Free - no tickets required

Leslie Odom Jr., whose portrayal of Aaron Burr— “the damn fool who shot him”— in Hamilton shot him to fame, returns for a free outdoor concert to follow-up his rapturously received lecture at Hancher last season. Odom and his versatile band will perform songs in a number of styles from an array of sources. With his sparkling voice and undeniable charisma, Odom will fill the night with music. This free celebration is also Hancher’s way of welcoming students back to campus.

The Jazz at Lincoln Center Orchestra with Wynton Marsalis

Friday, September 22, 7:30 pm
The Auditorium, Hadley Stage

A gala event! Black tie optional.

Longtime Hancher favorites, the Jazz at Lincoln Center Orchestra with Wynton Marsalis will make its debut in the new Hancher Auditorium. Marsalis is a cultural force—a top-flight trumpeter and composer as well as a leading proponent of jazz and jazz education—and the band he leads includes hot soloists who are also exceptional ensemble players. Wynton and the band will transform Hancher into the house of swing.

An Immersive Multimedia Experience

Saturday, September 30, 7:30 pm
 The Auditorium, Hadley Stage

Niyaz—known for its contemporary electroacoustic trance music that blends Sufi poetry with folk music from Iran and surrounding countries—embraces the collision of the old and new as a means to create the unique and affecting. The Huffington Post calls Niyaz “an evolutionary force in contemporary Middle Eastern music.” The band’s collaboration with visual artist Jérôme Delapierre is another step forward. The Fourth Light Project is a multimedia experience, combining live music and sacred dance (a dervish) with advanced projection techniques that respond to sound and music in real time. The Fourth Light Project focuses on the life and work of Rabia al-Basri, an eighth-century Muslim saint and the first female Sufi mystic.

G. Willow Wilson

A Superhero for Generation Why

A collaboration with the UI Lecture Committee, the Iowa City Book Festival, and the One Community, One Book program

Sunday, October 8, 2 pm
The Auditorium, Hadley Stage
Free - no tickets required

G. Willow Wilson is a superhero who employs her literary powers to address pressing issues including religious intolerance and gender politics. In fiction, nonfiction, and comics, the American convert to Islam has distinguished herself as a writer of remarkable originality and insight. In her lecture, Wilson uses the challenges Ms. Marvel—a Pakistani-American Muslim teenager—faces as a parallel for the challenges of a misunderstood generation: the millennials. She'll discuss the genesis of Ms. Marvel, her roots in the historical science fiction/fantasy tradition, and the significance of writing a superhero for a millennial (and wider) audience.

Wilson's memoir, The Butterfly Mosque, which recounts her life in Egypt during the waning day of the Mubarak regime, is the 2017 selection for the One Community, One Book program sponsored by the University of Iowa Center for Human Rights.

Additional support for Wilson's lecture and residency has been provided by the University of Iowa's Writers' Workshop, International Writing Program, and Nonfiction Writing Program and also from Daydreams Comics. The Iowa City Book Festival is a program of the Iowa City UNESCO City of Literature Organization. The UI Center for Human Rights organizes the One Community, One Book program.

New York City Ballet MOVES

Tuesday and Wednesday, October 24–25, 7:30 pm
The Auditorium, Hadley Stage

Established in 1948 by choreographer George Balanchine and arts aficionado Lincoln Kirstein, New York City Ballet is one of the foremost dance companies in the world. Now under the direction of Ballet Master in Chief Peter Martins and Executive Director Katherine Brown, the company has an active repertory of more than 150 works, most of which were created for NYCB and many of which are considered modern masterpieces. New York City Ballet MOVES is composed of a select group of NYCB musicians and dancers from all ranks of the Company. Miriam Miller, a NYCB dancer from Iowa City, will dance during the Hancher performances, which will feature live music. The program will include choreography by Christopher Wheeldon, Justin Peck, and Jerome Robbins.

A HANCHER COMMISSION

Thursday, November 16, 7:30 pm
The Auditorium, Hadley Stage

A Far Cry is a musical collective that has developed an innovative process for group decision-making and shared leadership. That spirit of innovation extends to The Blue Hour, a new work the chamber orchestra commissioned and which was created collaboratively by five female composers—Caroline Shaw, Shara Nova, Sarah Kirkland Snider, Angélica Negrón, and Rachel Grimes. The libretto for the song-cycle is the poem “On Earth” by Carolyn Forché, from her book Blue Hour. Grammy Award-winning jazz vocalist Luciana Souza joins A Far Cry in performance of The Blue Hour.

It truly is a family affair when Natalie MacMaster and Donnell Leahy bring their Celtic—by way of Cape Breton, Canada—music to the stage for a holiday party. MacMaster and Leahy are married, and their performances marry their masterful fiddle playing with the sounds and traditions of their home. This celebration is a homecoming of sorts as the musicians—whose long association with Hancher makes them feel like family—bring their take on the holidays to the new Hancher Auditorium stage for the first time.

“The heart of the work is about seeing the dancers,” says Camille A. Brown. “They are people. What are the stories that live inside of their bodies?” Her new work, ink, seeks to reclaim African American narratives and culture from appropriation and silence. The third work in a trilogy about identity, ink is an amalgamation of African dance, African American social dance, tap, jazz, modern, and hip-hop.

Amir ElSaffar and Rivers of Sound

Thursday, February 8, 7:30 pm
The Auditorium, Hadley Stage

The Wire says Amir ElSaffar is “uniquely poised to reconcile jazz and Arabic music without doing either harm.” A trumpeter, santur player, vocalist, and composer, ElSaffar is steeped in classical and jazz traditions while also bringing the microtones and ornaments idiomatic to Arabic music into play. He is also a practitioner of the endangered Iraqi maqam music, which influences both his playing and his composing. All of this adds up to the Chicago Tribune calling ElSaffar “one of the most promising figures in jazz today.”

His band, Rivers of Sound, features 17 musicians who blend eastern and western music by using resonance as their organizing principle. As pitches and rhythms become fluid, so do cultural boundaries. The result is a fresh transcultural soundscape.

Elias String Quartet

Tuesday, March 6, 7:30 pm
The Auditorium, Hadley Stage

A collaboration with the UI String Quartet Residency Program

There are plenty of top tier string quartets in the world. Even so, the Elias String Quartet stands out among its peers. As the Philadelphia Enquirer put it, “Few quartets at any stage of their evolution have this much personality.” The Herald of Glasgow had this to say: “It is hardly ever the case that gratitude is the lasting impression of a concert, but this is one of them.”

PROGRAM:

Schubert: Quartettsatz in C Minor, D. 703
Janáček: Quartet No. 2 (“Intimate Letters”)
Beethoven: Quartet No. 12 in E-flat Major, Op. 127

My Lai

Kronos Quartet, Rinde Eckert,
Vân-Ánh Vanessa Võ

Jonathan Berger, composer
Harriet Scott Chessman, librettist
Brian H. Scott, lighting designer

Wednesday, March 21, 7:30 pm
The Auditorium, Hadley Stage

Hancher has enjoyed a long and creatively fruitful relationship with both the Kronos Quartet and UI alum Rinde Eckert. For My Lai, the string quartet and the vocalist come together with Vietnamese multi-instrumentalist Vân Ánh Vanessa Võ to lay bare the tragedy of the 1968 massacre at My Lai. The story of the destruction of the village at the hands of American soldiers is told from the perspective of Hugh Thompson, a helicopter pilot who tried to intervene and who was vilified for reporting what he had witnessed.

Brian Stokes Mitchell

with the University of Iowa Symphony Orchestra

Dr. William LaRue Jones, conductor

Wednesday, March 28, 7:30 pm

The Auditorium, Hadley Stage

“The last leading man” comes to Hancher Auditorium to perform with University of Iowa student musicians under the baton of Dr. William LaRue Jones. A star of the Broadway stage (Man of La Mancha, Ragtime, Kiss Me Kate, Shuffle Along) and screen (Trapper John, M.D., Frasier, Glee, The Blacklist), Brian Stokes Mitchell possesses what the New York Times calls “a singularly thunderous baritone.” He and his trio will join the UI Symphony Orchestra, which will provide a lush setting for Stokes’s luscious voice.

Feathers of Fire: A Persian Epic

Wednesday, April 4, 7:30 pm
The Auditorium, Hadley Stage

Created by Hamid Rahmadian, a Guggenheim fellowship-winning filmmaker and visual artist, Feathers of Fire is an ambitious shadow play recounting the fates of star-crossed lovers. The magical tale of Zaul and Rudabeh is drawn from the tenth-century Persian epic Shahnameh (The Book of Kings). Casting shadows on a cinema-size screen, puppets, costumes, masks, scenography, and digital animation will bring the story to life. With techniques conceived by shadow master Larry Reed and an original score composed by Niyaz, Feathers of Fire is epic entertainment for the entire family.

DakhaBrakha

Thursday, April 19, 7 and 9:30 pm
Strauss Hall

The band's name means "give-take." The band's members call the mix of influences "ethno-chaos." The band's voice is singular. Built on a base of Ukrainian folk music, the sound of DakhaBrakha is equal parts old and new—a punk take on established traditions stirred together with a world of grooves.

Circa Carnival of the Animals

Saturday, April 21, 2 and 7:30 pm
The Auditorium, Hadley Stage

Carnival of the Animals, inspired by composer Camille Saint-Saëns's suite of the same name, is a delightful frolic through the animal kingdom. The Circa acrobats—with a little help from whimsical projections—portray a wide array of creatures while showing off their incredible circus skills. Bring the whole family to enjoy the adventure.

Circa Opus

Wednesday, April 25, 7:30 pm
The Auditorium, Hadley Stage

Opus, which is underpinned by the music of composer Dmitri Shostakovich, features fourteen acrobats creating powerful and nuanced geometries with their bodies. The performers are joined on stage by the Debussy String Quartet, and the musicians' contributions are far more than simply playing the music. Delving deeply into the complex relationships between the individual and the group, the march of history and the dictates of the heart, and the tragic and the comic, Opus is an evening of circus that eschews the zany for the thought-provoking.

A 24-Decade History of Popular Music (Abridged)

Saturday, April 28, 7:30 pm
The Auditorium, Hadley Stage

Hancher was a proud commissioner and presenter of Taylor Mac's 1846-1856 Whitman vs. Foster: Songs Popular Near the Breaking Point, a portion of the artist's 24-Decade History of Popular Music. Now, in a condensed version of this magnum opus, Mac returns to take us on a musical and theatrical journey through American history. Easily one of the most dazzling performers of our time, Mac will take you out of your comfort zone and into a new conception of our shared story.

A collaboration with Summer of the Arts

Saturday, May 26, 2 pm

Strauss Green

Free - no tickets required

Born in Chicago to Indian Muslim immigrants, Zeshan Bagewadi's musical identity was formed at the harmonious intersection of two worlds. As he was growing up, his parent's love of their native Indo-Pakistani music collided with the sounds of his father's extensive blues, soul, and R&B collection. Bagewadi brings all of those influences to the stage, creating a unifying and soulful sound from seemingly disparate traditions. He and his band will perform at the Friday Night Concert Series and then play a Saturday show in Hancher's backyard.

Donor pre-sale, May 8–26

Tickets are available for early purchase May 8-26 for those who have made a contribution of at least $1,000 to the Hancher Circle since July 1, 2016. All qualifying donors will receive an early order form by mail to fill out and return to the box office to access this seating priority benefit. Donors must return their order forms to the Hancher Box Office by May 26 in order to retain their early seating priority. If you would like to donate to Hancher for the opportunity to order before the general public, please contact the University of Iowa Foundation by calling (800) 648-6973, or donate directly at hancher.uiowa.edu/support.

Public on-sale, Friday July 7

Tickets for Hancher's 17-18 season go on sale to the general public at 10am on Friday, July 7, 2017. Tickets may be ordered online, in person, and by phone at that time.

Save 20% when purchasing 5 or more events

For all purchasers, a discount program is available for anyone wishing to buy five or more unique events from our 17-18 season. Anyone interested in this discount must order his or her tickets with the donor pre-sale order form, in person at the Hancher Box Office, or by phone at 1-800-HANCHER. This discount is NOT available online. All five unique events must be purchased in a single order to qualify for the discount. Please note that a few events do not have a 20% discount, but those events can still count toward the five or more event total.

Discounted tickets for College Students and Youth

Hancher offers discounts for college students (both University of Iowa and other colleges) and for children ages 17 and under for most events. College students must present a valid university ID card at all events when using one of these discounted tickets. Each college student may bring a guest at the student rate.

Discounted tickets for Groups

Discounted group prices are available for many performances when the block of tickets is purchased at the same time with a single payment. Tickets are held until three weeks before the chosen performance, at which time final count and full payment is due. Contact the Hancher Box Office for group prices and to arrange for your group.
